ALLRED SEEKS TO STOP GAS WASTAGE

DELIVERS PERSONAL MESSAGE TO TEXAS LAWMAKERS TODAY

GOVERNOR SEVERELY CONDEMNED WASTAGE MILLIONS OF FEET GAS DAILY

AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Governor James V. Allred severely condemned wastage of millions of cubic feet of gas daily in the Texas Panhandle and recommended immediate corrective legislation in a message, delivered personally, to the Texas legislature today.

Blame for the condition was placed by Governor Allred primarily on refusal of major pipeline companies to purchase gas ratably.

Asserting "sound public policy demands that this atrocious waste be stopped and that our gas resources be conserved for useful purposes," Governor Allred recommended:

1. Legislation for effective gas conservation and elimination of physical waste within reasonable limitation to protect oil production.

2. Ratable withdrawal from all gas wells.

Limitations upon the right to produce natural gas from gas wells to compel producers, handlers of transporters of natural gas to apportion withdrawals from all gas wells in each field ratably under supervision of the railroad commission.

4. Investiture of the railroad commission with power to restrict production to prevent physical waste and to restrict the right to produce natural gas so as to impose ratable withdrawal of gas from the wells in each field.

5. To permit use of gas for any "beneficial" purpose.

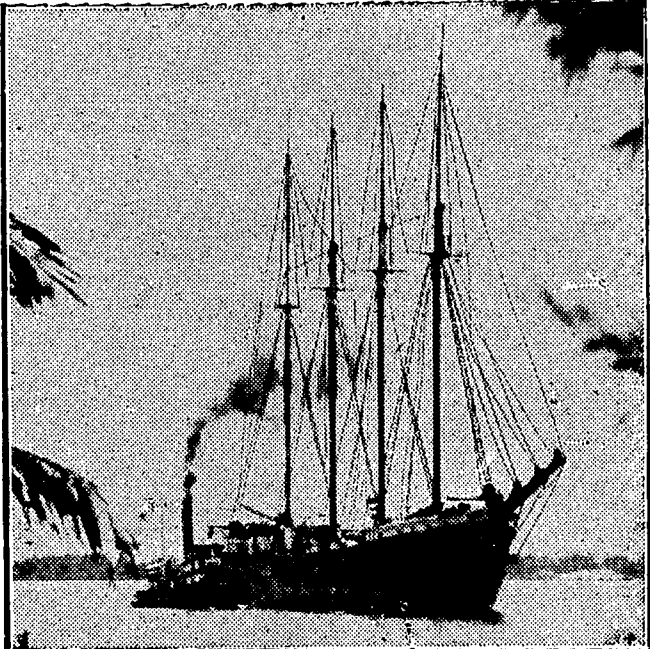

The governor said he regarded pipeline withdrawal as "essential to the remedy." He said small producers, denied a market outlet by pipeline, "have been compelled to turn to the wasteful practice of stripping the natural gas from the well and burning it in the open air. These pipeline companies, selfishly refusing to purchase gas ratably, have left small independent producers with no outlet."

It is reliably reported that in excess of a billion cubic feet of gas is daily wasted by being blown into the air in the Panhandle field," the governor stated. "It is also common knowledge that hundreds of millions of cubic feet of natural gas are daily being wasted into the air in other fields from gasoline stripping plants, the number of which will shortly multiply until this wasteful practice is summarily stopped."

"Natural gas stripping is both a worthy and profitable industry. The waste occurs principally after this operation. The return of dry or stripped gas to the producing strata of gas or oil fields in a manner to save or use it beneficially is a worthy operation; as also is the use of this gas for other purposes."

REACHES PORT AFTER STORM

The Seth Parker, sailing schooner pictured above, was towed into Pago-Pago Thursday morning by a United States Naval tug, in a sorry plight. While the masts were still intact the rigging was in rags and the vessel was leaking badly. The vessel is the one the radio star, Phillips Lord, was attempting to sail around the world and its SOS call was answered by the British cruiser Australia on board which was King George's third son, the Duke of Gloucester, which stood by the disabled vessel until the naval tug arrived.

ROOSEVELT SIGNS $60,000,000 CROP AND SEED LOAN BILL

SOME DEMO LEADERS INTERPRET ACTION AS ATTEMPT BLOCK RESTLESSNESS

By CLARENCE M. WRIGHT Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Some democratic leaders in Capitol Hill interpret President Roosevelt's action on a $60,000,000 seed loan as a new attempt to prevent congressional restlessness from expressing itself in such a way as to wreck the president's budget.

At the same time one leading democrat said the "restlessness" was due in part to a feeling that congress has "yielded a lot of its functions to the executive branch" and does not want to "sit around and do nothing."

Some time ago congress passed the $60,000,000 crop and seed loan bill. It represented money not included in the budget. Yesterday the president signed it, but recommended that since the funds were primarily for drought relief for $60,000,000 should be taken out of the relief funds in the $4,880,000,000 work and relief bill now before the senate. Thus, he said, the seed money would represent an increase in the budget estimates.

The high democrats who expressed the opinions did not wish to be quoted by name, but one said privately that the president "went out of his way to put congress on notice that he intends

SETH PARKER IS TOWED INTO PORT BY U. S. NAVAL TUG

ALTHOUGH NOT BADLY DAMAGED SCHOONER WAS REPORTED AS SORRY SIGHT

TUTUILA, American Samoa, Feb. 21.—(AP)—With bedraggled sailing gear flapping from her masts and her pumps working continuously, the American Radio schooner Seth Parker anchored at Pago-Pago today.

The little sailing ship, whose distress calls 10 days ago, was towed into port by the U. S. naval tug Ontario at 10 p. m. last night (4:30 a. m. today, eastern standard time).

Although not badly damaged the craft on which Phillips Lord, master and down east radio character known as Seth Parker, hoped to sail around the world, was a sorry sight.

All of her masts were still standing but one or two spars had been torn away, her jib sail was ripped to ribbons and minor pieces of rigging were torn loose by the South Sea storm she weathered.

What will be done with the Seth Parker was not known. Lord said he did not plan to return to the United States until he has circumnavigated the globe.

All of the 13 men originally aboard her were well.

The Ontario took the Seth Parker in tow last Friday, four days after the British cruiser Australia, with the Duke of Gloucester aboard, arrived alongside for the second time.

Hurricane Gale.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY TAKES NOTE OF STATEMENT BY HERBERT HOOVER

By NATHAN ROBERTSON Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Former President Hoover's proposal for an immediate return to the gold standard stirred up a hot debate among senate Democrats today in which Senator Connally (D-Tex.) contended the government was already on a gold standard but Senator Glass (D-Va.) asserted "we are on a fiat currency basis."

The controversy flared shortly after Secretary Morgenthau, the administration's financial spokesman, said he was "satisfied" with the present program and saw no reason to change though the policy still was on a day to day basis.

Connally, a Texas Democrat who was one of the first to advocate devaluation of the dollar, started the senate discussion by contending

GARRISON IS FOUND GUILTY; PUNISHMENT ASSESSED 10 YEARS

DEFENSE ATTORNEYS EXPECTED TO FILE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

After deliberating slightly more than one hour and thirty minutes Wednesday afternoon, the jury in the trial of Jim Garrison, 62, on a murder indictment for the fatal shooting of Aude Washburn, 51, near Wildcat Ferry, Dec. 24, 1934, returned a verdict of guilty. Garrison entered his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for ten years. Notice of appeal was immediately given by A. P. Mays, defense attorney.

Conclusion of arguments of the attorneys was made about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the jury returned its verdict shortly after 5:30 o'clock.

New Trial Motion Expected.

A formal motion for a new trial is expected to be filed immediately before Special District Judge Norris W. Lovett, by the defense.

After Washburn was shot with a shotgun in the right chest in the house of Garrison, a short distance from Trinity river, in the extreme southeastern portion of the county, Garrison entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned on the indictment last week and testified he shot at a person he thought to be a hi-jacker, advancing on him with a knife and

GOVERNMENT MOVED SWIFTLY TO BLOCK SELF-DEFENSE PLEA

ATTORNEY FOR INDICTED SHERIFF HELD IN JAIL AS WITNESSES ADMIT PERJURY

DALLAS, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The federal government moved swiftly today to block an alleged attempt to strengthen the self-defense plea of Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, charged with the machine gun killing of a federal narcotic agent, Spencer Stafford.

The grand jury returned two indictments against N. C. Outlaw, Cato's attorney, and others, charging them with conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States. These indictments were returned to Judge William H. Atwell in United States district court.

C. M. Loe was charged with Outlaw in one indictment, while E. R. Braddock was named in the other. Both men are from Post, the West Texas town where the narcotic agent was shot to death by Sheriff Cato Feb. 7.

Released on Bond.

Judge Atwell released Loe and Braddock, each on his own recognizance of $1,000.

He also recognized them as government witnesses in the murder case, which is set for trial at Lubbock May 20; and told them if anyone attempted to injure you or anything in touch immediately with the United States district attorney.

Allegations in the Loe indictment were that Outlaw held a conversation with Loe on the street at Post after the killing. At that time, it was alleged, it was agreed that Loe would testify that he was present and saw Stafford run out of the office of Dr. L. W. Kitchen, a veterinarian, with what appeared to be a gun in his hand.

The veterinarian, along with a physician, V. A. Harman, and deputized farmer, Tom Morgan,

FATE OF KENAMER IN HANDS OF JURY; ASK DEATH PENALTY

YOUTHFUL PROSECUTING ATTORNEY CLOSES CASE WITH PLEA FOR EXECUTION

By JOHN JAMESON Associated Press Staff Writer

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The state closed its arguments in the Phil Kenamer murder trial today with a dramatic plea that the life of the federal judge's son be exacted "just as Phil Kenamer shot and killed John Gorrell in Tulsa last Thanksgiving night."

The sensational trial was placed in the hands of the jury of farmers and small town business men at 11:45 a. m. today, ending one of the most spectacular murder trials in the history of Oklahoma.

W. F. (Dixie) Gilmer, Jr., youngest of the trial lawyers, 33-year-old assistant Tulsa county prosecutor, made the demand for the death penalty in the state's final argument.

Unexpected in view of other prosecutors' demand for imprisonment, his plea created a sensation in the courtroom.

His demand was as startling as the announcement that he, instead of his chief, Holly Anderson, would close for the state, following the 78-year-old C. E. Stuart of the defense.

As the jury filed out of the courtroom to begin its deliberations.

PROBER ASSERTS NEW STAFF IGNORED BEST OF EVIDENCE

SAYS HAUPTMANN COUNSEL HAD PROOF BABY NOT LINDBERGH'S

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A former defense investigator said today counsel for Bruno Hauptmann had ignored evidence that the baby in the murder case could not have been that of the Lindbergh child.

Seven autopsy experts were ready to show, declared George H. Foster, that the body found five miles from Hopewell, N. J., identified by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as that of his son in reality was:

(1) More than four inches taller than Charles Lindbergh, Jr.;

(2) Decomposed more than would have been possible in the mild weather after the kidnapping; and

(3) Enbalmed.

Foster is chief investigator for James M. Fawcett, who was replaced as Hauptmann's counsel before the trial.

His assertion came as the present defense staff prepared to gather in Trenton today for a conference on their disagreement over appeal procedure. This was understood to be due in part to the failure of Edward J. Reilly, chief counsel, to attack the state's identification of the body.

Advices from Trenton predicted a showdown, but Reilly insisted in Boston last night that "there is no row."

Associated with Reilly are C. Leo Fisher, designated as Hauptmann's "chief of New Jersey counsel"; Frederick A. Pope, and Egbert Rosecrans. Pope is said to side with Fisher, Rosecrans with Reilly.

"We have neglected to take advantage of the most important point in the defense case," Fisher

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Leland S. Andrews, in a single motored monoplane, today set a new trans-continental transport record, covering the flight from Los Angeles to Floyd Bennett airport, New York, in an elapsed time of 31 hours 21 minutes and one second.

He knocked 37 minutes and 59 seconds from the previous record, set by his brother-in-law, Major James R. Doolittle on Jan. 15. Andrews landed at Newark airport at 2:35 p. m.

Phil Kenamer, youthful admitted slayer of John Gorrell, erstwhile friend, who has been on trial for murder for several days in Pawnee, Oklahoma, awaits the verdict of the jury in his case after he heard the last state attorney demand the death penalty. Kenamer, son of a federal judge in Oklahoma, claims the slaying climaxed his attempt to prevent the kidnapping of the daughter of a wealthy oil man whom he loved.

GOVERNOR INDICATES JESTER IS SLATED BE REPLACED AS REGENT

CHIEF EXECUTIVE SAYS HE IS COMMITTED TO NAME ANOTHER MAN

Beauford H. Jester, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, is slated to be replaced by another man, according to a telegram received by A. A. Allison, postmaster, from James V. Allred, governor of Texas.

Delegates from Corsicana, Waxahachie and Hillsboro had planned to go to Austin Thursday in the interest of the re-appointment of Chairman Jester and an appointment with the governor had been arranged. The telegram received by Allison from the governor stated that he was committed to name a successor to the present chairman, but that he (the governor) was mindful of the services rendered to the interests of the University by the Corsicanan.

After receiving the telegram from the governor, plans for the sending of a delegation there Thursday were abandoned.

It was reported here Wednesday that Vice President John N. Garner and U. S. Senator Tom Connally had wired Governor Allred in the interest of the re-appointment of Jester.

Jester was appointed to the board by Governor Dan Moody and has been chairman of the board for the past several years. Through his efforts and trips to Washington, several millions of dollars have been secured from the PWA to construct the library, main building, dormitories and other new buildings on the campus. It is thought in local circles Governor Allred is waiting to name Jester's successor until certain phases of work in the dormitories project have been completed.

A telegram, signed by Edward M. Polk, Jr., president and other officials of the Navarro County University of Texas Ex-Students Association was sent to Governor Allred Tuesday asking the re-appointment of Jester.

SENATOR GLASS TO UNLIMBER GUNS IN RELIEF BILL ROW

ADMINISTRATION FORCES EXPECT VIRGINIAN TO RALLY FORCES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Senator Glass (D-Va.) unlumbered his guns for action today in the fierce struggle over the Roosevelt administration's $4,880,000,000 work relief bill.

Though there was no advance word as to just what the measure in general, Roosevelt leaders counted on him to rally strength behind the $500-million "security wages" which administration officials propose.

The leaders see the fight over wages as the biggest obstacle to their drive to get the bill through the senate without major changes. Some of them were frankly worried as the senate headed toward a vote on the amendment, proposed by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) to require that relief workers be paid wage rates prevailing in private industry.

GENEVA TREATY IS RETURNED SENATE TO PERMIT CHANGES

FEAR INTERNATIONAL COMPLICATIONS IF REMAINS PRESENT FORM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—To permit a vote on elimination of a reservation which has met with objection by other nations, President Roosevelt today re-submitted to the senate the Geneva treaty of 1925 for supervision of arms and ammunition.

The reservation declares American ratification shall not mean any interference with whatever sovereignty Persia may exercise over the waters of the Persian gulf.

Return of the treaty was requested by the senate on February 15. It was ratified originally last session.

The treaty was the first international action taken to control traffic in arms and munitions.

Senate approval was delayed for nine years until President Roosevelt submitted the agreement last June with a request that it be ratified.

The reservation was offered by Senator King (D-Utah).

Since Persia has never been conceded sovereignty over the Persian gulf and the reservation might bring about international complications, the state department opposed ratification of the pact in its present form.

The United States, through Hugh Wilson, minister to Switzerland, is urging adoption of a new and more stringent arms control pact at Geneva, based on the 1925

TWO DAUGHTERS OF CONSUL GENERAL AT NAPLES ARE KILLED

MYSTERIOUS FALL FROM PLANE OVER ENGLAND FATAL TO GIRLS

By BURDETTE T. JOHNS Associated Press Foreign Staff (Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

UPMINSTER, Essex, Eng., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Two beautiful American girls, Elizabeth and Jane Du Bois, the only children of a United States consul general, plunged from an airplane to death today. Friends said they started on their last flight heart-broken over the recent crash-deaths of two men of the Royal Flying Corps.

They fell from a commercial airplane speeding to Paris at an altitude of 15,000 feet. Horrified witnesses, looking up, said they plummeted to earth "clashed hand in hand in a last embrace."

The girls' father is Consul Du Bois, United States consul general in Naples.

London friends said the girls were grief-stricken by the crash deaths of two officers of the Royal Flying Corps, February 15, aboard the big flying-boat "Ace of Diamonds" in Sicily.

A report from Naples said Elizabeth had been engaged to marry Flight Officer John A. Forbes, field beauty commander of the Ace of Diamonds, and Jan had been engaged to Flying Officer John A. C. Forbes, who killed with seven companions in one of the flying corps' worst peacetime disasters.

Live in West-End Hotel

The girls had been living in a West-End hotel in London for the last four or five days, coming to England only a short time after the funeral of the British crash-victim John A. C. Forbes and hysterics excited the interest of attendants at the London hotel.

(The dead in the crash of the Ace of Diamonds were Flight Lieutenant Henry Longfield Beatty, Flying Officer John A. C. Forbes, Lieutenant Willis, four other officers named Allen, Bailey, Rees and Wogan, Sergeant Wallace, and a civilian named Penn.)

The girls flew out to death alone for, aside from the pilot's wife, there was no other person on the eight-passenger ship. The Misses Du Bois had reserved and paid for every seat in the plane, apparently in order to be by themselves on the channel crossing.

Witnesses on the ground said the girls were "clashed hand in hand in a last embrace" as they plunged downward from the heights. The plane's pilot, J. K. Perton, did not notice his sole passenger's disappearance until an hour later when he was well out over the channel.

Scotland yard detectives were immediately sent out from London on the case for two sealed letters were found on one of the seats in the plane after the horrified Kilton took it back to Romford airport.

No. 21

Deductions For Taxes
Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the year 1934 are deductible. So-called taxes, which are assessed against local benefits, such as streets, sidewalks, drainage, and other like improvements, are not deductible, for they tend to increase the value of the property and thus constitute cost of a permanent improvement. The Federal income tax may not be deducted. Income tax, however, paid to the state by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction on his Federal income-tax return.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Admission taxes, imposed on admissions in excess of 40 cents, are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them. An individual may deduct the tax on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams and cables, on the checks he has drawn, and on the rent of his safe deposit box.

Licenses fees exacted by a state or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed.

Under the Revenue Act of 1934, no Federal estate tax is payable on inheritance, estate, legacy, or succession taxes, or gift taxes are deductible on any income-tax return. The Federal taxes on automobiles, gasoline, and liquor are imposed upon the manufacturer, producer, or importer, and are not deductible by the purchaser or consumer. Whether or not the gasoline tax or the sales tax levied by a state may be deducted by the individual purchaser depends upon the terms of the state law imposing the tax, consequently the right to the deduction, as between purchaser and seller, varies in the different states.

Beauty Meets Death.
Frau Von Falkenhayn, one of Berlin's beauties, met her death like a woman without a sign of emotion, according to the informant.

He described her as "an extremely beautiful woman, about 35 years old."

"What impressed us most of the two women's behavior during their last minutes of life," he said, "was that neither one of them even murmured a single word."

The informant, who heard the prosecution reading the verdict in which the women's former occupation was given, said that both were employed at the foreign office and not at the reichswehr ministry, as previously had been reported.

As a revelation of some of the background of the history of the two women, the Associated Press was told that the two candidates for death were taken to Ploetzensee prison about 6 p. m. last Saturday "one hour after the death verdict was passed." They were put immediately into the death cell and were constantly watched by two prison wardens.

"Nobody ever dreamed they would be decapitated so soon," said the informant.

The two women spent their last hours of Sunday night and early Monday drinking wine and coffee and smoking "uncountable expensive cigarettes."

The two women who had been known in Berlin society for their gorgeous gowns and furs, went to their deaths dressed in blue prison garments.

OIL TEST NEAR CURRIE REPORTED TO HAVE SHOWING

M'GLOTHLIN - DAVANT DOBBINS NO. 1 DRILLING AT 630 FOOT LEVEL

Crew on the Meers-Keeling et al Woodbine test near Currie was reported Tuesday to be engaged in attempting to reach bottom of the hole with a ball and had reduced the amount of fluid present until only about 150 feet remained. Some observers reported increasing amounts of oil with each trip of the ball.

Operations on the McGlothlin-Davant Dobbins No. 1 a short distance northwest of Corsicana were reported around the 630 foot level late Monday afternoon.

Tipping up is in progress on the McGlothlin-McCarter Barnett No. 1 southwest of Kerens, with spudding in scheduled shortly. Continued rains have slowed up operations in this sector.

Drilling was reported in progress on the Albritton et al shallow tests southwest of Corsicana but details of operations were not available immediately. Production is sought in the 1200 to 1300 foot levels.

The E. B. LaRue et al on the Gentry tract in Henderson county was reported in the sub-Clarke well around 3500 feet Tuesday. Top of the broken Austin chalk was encountered around 3200 feet with top of the hard chalk at 3-384 and bottom of the chalk at 3804. The producing sands are anticipated between 4150 and 4200 feet. The test is reported running from 80 to 125 feet higher than several other tests drilled in this section of Henderson county.

Auto License Plates.
AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Texas motorists may start attaching their 1935 automobile license plates on week from tomorrow. Governor Allred this week signed a bill to permit the tags to be attached on or after March 1. They must be on the automobiles by the first of April.

MAN IS APPOINTED WARDEN OKLAHOMA STATE REFORMATORY

SHERIFF FRED HUNT, TISHOMINGO, SUCCEEDS MRS. GEORGE WATERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The nation's only woman warden refused to be fired today, demanding vindication before dismissal.

Informed the state board of affairs had named her successor today and had demanded immediate removal as warden of Granite reformatory.

Mrs. George A. Waters, 45, said she would remain until "a complete investigation has been made."

"I want the state senate to investigate the charges made against me before I am removed from the office I have held for eight years," she demanded.

Mrs. Waters referred to charges of cruelty, mismanagement and inefficiency inquired into by the board of affairs and Mrs. Mable Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections.

Mrs. Waters' plea for vindication found a ready hearing at the capitol. Chairman Don Wilbanks of a senate committee announced this morning he was sending a subcommittee to the prison tomorrow.

Sheriff Fred Hunt of Tishomingo was named to replace Mrs. Waters.

Two new heads for other state penal administrations which recently have been under investigation were named.

Mrs. Creighton Burnham of Oklahoma City was appointed superintendent of the State Training School for Girls at Tecumseh, succeeding Mrs. O. T. Bezanson, Oklahoma City.

Sheriff M. J. Bradley was appointed superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at Pauls Valley, succeeding J. J. Quinlan, Oklahoma City.

Ouster of Mrs. Waters followed a Sunday afternoon break at the reformatory in which 32 prisoners made a mad dash for freedom, killing a guard.

Eighteen of 32 have been recaptured. Eighteen are still at large and today apparently had eluded capture by possemen who have combed the rocky plains of south-central Oklahoma for more than two days.

Woman Warden Under Fire.
The woman warden's administration has been under fire from two sources for the past month, since a former prisoner, George Matlare, appeared at the state capitol and complained both wrists had been broken by prison guards.

The charge precipitated a probe by Mrs. Mable Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections and a later investigation by the state board of affairs.

Mrs. Bassett started two days before the board went to Granite to open its investigation. She finished after a week, declaring, "I have no comment to make until I have talked to the governor."

The board took withheld its report. Yesterday, however, of man L. M. Nichols said evidence of sexual perversion had been unearthed at the reformatory and that he believed a woman warden incapable of combating that condition.

Through both investigations, Mrs. Waters remained at the reformatory demanding that she be cleared of charges of cruelty, probed by Mrs. Bassett, and inefficiency, investigated by the board.

Last Break Not Reason.
Both Nichols and Gov. Marland declared Sunday's break was not the reason for the dismissal of Mrs. Waters. She was slated to go before the break occurred, they said.

Mrs. Waters had served as warden of the reformatory through two administrations. She was appointed eight years ago by Henry S. Johnston when the present state senator was governor.

Throughout the recent furor at the institution, Johnston has remained a steadfast supporter of the woman warden, shouting from the senate floor she was being "crucified" by "political enemies."

A legislative investigating committee was named to insure her "a fair deal," but the committee did not carry out its plans to go to the reformatory to investigate conditions, preferring to await the reports of Mrs. Bassett and the board.

A sensational angle was injected into the double investigation when Matlare, taken to Mangum by Mrs. Bassett so he would be near her during the probe, was arrested by Greer county officers and charged with assaulting W. E. Payker, a prison guard.

Matlare is still in jail at Mangum awaiting trial on the charge. No bond has been posted for him and no one has appeared to demand his release. Victor Waters, son of Mrs. Waters and Greer county attorney, said:

Other charges were that wine made at the reformatory was served at a banquet given in honor of Mrs. Waters by residents of Granite and that Mrs. Waters had not shown good business judgment in the purchase and sale of mules and cows for the prison farm, comprising 2,000 acres.

Mrs. Waters, appointed a year after the death of her husband, Dr. George A. Waters, one of the first heads of the institution brought the spirit of motherhood into the reformatory.

She always referred to her charges as "my boys." During the investigation 519 inmates signed a petition asking that she be retained.

GRANITE, Okla., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Youthful appearing Mrs. George A. Waters, taciturn from eight years in her unique position as woman warden of Granite reformatory for men, declined today to comment on reports of her impending dismissal.

Worn by the requirements of Sunday's sudden crisis, a prison break by 32 inmates, one of whom shot to death a tower guard, Mrs. Waters shut herself in her home and rested after 48 sleepless hours.

Eighteen of the fugitives still

CORSICANA TIGER AND PURDON FIVES MEET STRONG FOES

ALL COUNTY TITLES HAVE BEEN DECIDED EXCEPT M'LENNAN

Nine teams of Navarro, Hill, Limestone, McLennan, Coryell, Bosque and Falls counties will start the annual district basketball tournament in the University of Texas Interscholastic league Friday morning on the Waco high school gym floor.

Waco Tigers rank with the favorites although the Bynum, Purdon, Gatesville and Prairie Hill contingents may prove troublesome before the tournament is completed. There will be seven county champions and Corsicana and Waco high schools, city-county units who go directly to the district meets without competing in the county tournaments.

The various county champions have been determined with the exception of McLennan county. Mart and Reisel are in a dispute for that place. The two clubs met Tuesday night and there were two scores, neither of whom had been designated as official. The Mart scorers had the score 27-26. Another scorer, Reisel, whom the officials thought was the official scorer had the teams tied, 27-27. Reisel finally won in an overtime period, 29-28. When the Mart coach found that the scorer had not been designated as official scorer, he filed a protest and the county athletic committee ordered them game played over for Thursday night.

The team to win the McLennan county title tonight draws a bye in the first round of competition in the district tournament.

Prairie Hill limestone county champion eight times in the past 11 years, will meet Bynum, Hill county representatives, in the opening game of the tournament Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

These two aggregations are strong in all departments of play and the melee should prove a thriller. Prairie Hill won the Mildred and Tehuacana invitation tournaments over large fields. Bynum is also a strong contender for first rank.

Purdon Vs. Gatesville.
The second game of the tournament is slated to be played Friday at noon between the Purdon five from Navarro county and Gatesville, Coryell county, two of were at large. Of the 14 captured, nine were wounded by the gunfire of Deputy Warden Gallion.

Mrs. Waters instructed the telephone exchange not to ring her telephone except upon official business, while she recuperated.

"A woman just can't manage it," declared Governor E. W. Marland in Oklahoma City as he announced Mrs. Waters would be replaced by a man, to be selected by the state board of affairs.

"From what the board tells me," continued the governor, "there is a bad moral condition out there. A lot of it is unprintable."

The past fortnight has seen three separate investigations of Mrs. Waters' stewardship at the institution. The probes were based on cruelty charges.

Mrs. Waters took over the management of the reformatory in 1927, only two years after the death of her husband, Dr. George A. Waters, who had managed it himself.

Purdon has won honors in the Navarro county interscholastic league circles for the past two seasons, and is the defending district champion, having advanced to the state tournament in Austin last winter. Reports from Gatesville are to the effect that the Coryell county lads rank with the strongest combinations in the country. ## COTTON PLANTER TO SEEK AGREEMENT ON COTTON PROBLEM

AMERICA HAS BEEN STEADILY LOSING ITS COTTON EXPORT TRADE

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The findings of a stout Mississippi cotton planter, assigned to seek an international cotton agreement, may help determine whether farm administration is to turn away from an essentially nationalistic policy on the country's biggest money crop.

High administration officials say the foreign negotiations, to be conducted by Oscar Johnston, director of the AAA cotton pool, will extend much further than trying to recapture American export markets. On what happens abroad in connection with his talks, they disclose, may depend whether rigid export restrictions now imposed are to be abandoned or modified next year in favor of a liberalized scheme.

The problem is that while the United States has been cutting cotton production by the payment of benefits and by force of law, competitors in most cases have steadily have increased their yields. America's loss in exports is sharply illustrated by figures from the commerce department showing exports for the six months ended February 1 were only 2,864,538 bales against 4,919,450 bales for the same period the year before. Normally, 60 per cent of the American crop goes abroad.

Johnston, under a broad and unspecific mandate, will seek a way out. If some effective agreement looking toward international limitation of production cannot be reached, an authoritative source here says it is "entirely possible" this country may retire from the present inclusive control and turn to the domestic allotment plan or some similar system, although probably retaining some measure of production control. The domestic allotment plan means basically the payment of a bonus only upon that part of a farmer's crop used domestically, leaving the remainder to fight it out for a place in the world market at unpeppered prices.

The Mississippiian's assignment at this time is described as of particular importance in that all present cotton adjustment plans expire in 1936, both those holding down production by voluntary contracts and the Bankhead act providing compulsory restriction. Thus, discussion as to the administration's future course must be actively under way in the relatively short space of a few months.

PETER'S PHILANTHROPY SETS STANDARD FOR PRESENT PLANS *

More Money No Solution for Evils of Poverty And Suffering---Remaking Broken Lives ---A Glimpse of Jerusalem.

Every day's newspaper contains articles upon the world-wide problem of relief for human need and suffering. This has become the major issue of our time. Incidentally, that fact marks a tremendous advance in the quality of public thinking. Christian ideals of brotherhood and mutual responsibility have moved up into the realm of statecraft. Many live persons can recall when private suffering was not regarded as a national problem. The poor were left to live or die as they themselves could best manage. Now everybody is forced by law to accept the fact that he is the brother's keeper, and that we must obey the apostolic injunction, "Bear ye one another's burdens."

Our Lesson is a story. It set old Jerusalem by the ears, and had sensational consequences. In the beginning it was the story of a succoring of a lame man, a professional beggar, whose "pitch" was by the Beautiful Gate of the Temple. The whining beggar looked to Peter and John for a small coin and got instead healing and a new life.

A Familiar Jerusalem Sight
All visitors to Jerusalem who may be in the city on a Friday are taken to see the "Wailing Place of the Jews," which Jews themselves call "The Western Wall." The site is a passageway alongside of a section of the original wall of Solomon's Temple, and so a sacred relic and reminder of Israel's departed glory.

Of late, the popularity of prayer at the Western Wall has increased so markedly that, when last there, I could scarcely make my way amidst the assembled crowd. So have the beggars also increased. All of the narrow, tortuous way, from David Street to the Wailing Place, is lined with miserable mendicants--aged men and women and a little children. Some are blind or lame or otherwise afflicted, and others are simply beggars. Much criticism has been expressed over this practice, because it does not fairly represent the condition of Jewry in Palestine.

Still, the line of beggars is true to the type of the old Orient. These poor creatures seeking alms from worshippers at the Western Wall of the temple are in natural succession to the beggars by the eastern gate of the temple, two thousand years ago. What the visitor to Jerusalem sees today is quite like what Peter and John saw as they went up to the temple. Poverty, and professionalized pauperism, reach depths in the East which the West cannot understand. One clear difference between the Christian West and the pagan East is the plight of the poor and the afflicted.

Senator Wagner Introduced His Labor Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.--(P)--Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) introduced today his labor disputes bill, which would outlaw "company dominated" unions, provide for majority rule in collective bargaining, and create a permanent national labor relations board with power to enforce its findings in the federal courts.

He said it was designed to make the worker a "free man" and would "clarify the industrial atmosphere and reduce the likelihood of another conflagration of strife."
Containing there had been a "breakdown" of section 7-A, the labor section of the recovery act, Wagner said his measure would "give notice to all that the solemn pledge made by congress when it enacted 7-A cannot be ignored, with impunity, and that a cardinal principle of a new deal for all is that no one of our people is going to be supported and preserved."

The Wagner bill is a redraft of a measure which he proposed at the last session of congress, but which was lost in the closing legislative jam in the face of a nation-wide assault from industry.

Wagner denied the measure would favor a particular union, create a closed shop, or force any employee to join a union against his will.

CLASSIFICATION OF AVAILABLE WORKERS ON RELIEF ROLLS

A detailed and systematic classification of available workers on local relief rolls has been started by Navarro county relief board officials in keeping with the new state policy. The new information will be utilized in assigning such persons to various projects approved under the work relief program.

While some counties have been ordered recently to stop hoarding the mattresses made in relief factories and have been ordered by state officials to distribute them immediately, Administrator W. D. Robinson reported that such was not the case in Navarro county. He reported that the local factory had been closed since the first of the year and that all mattresses were distributed within a few days after they were completed.

A number of work relief projects are now under way in Corsicana and all parts of the county. The painting of street names and block numbers on all Corsicana street intersections lacks some ten days of being completed according to officials.

Announcement Party And Kitchen Shower For Coming Bride

Mrs. C. C. Turner entertained Tuesday evening with an announcement party and kitchen shower combined, complimenting Miss Bertha Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Murphy, 510 West Tenth avenue, who is to become the bride of Mr. J. W. Swint of Ft. Huachuca in the near future.

When the 30 or more guests had arrived, a program of contests and tap dancing was enjoyed. The first contest consisted of making words of household articles, beginning with the letters of the alphabet, the one making the longest list in a given length of time, receiving a prize.

In the second, an epistle was written the bride-elect, each one writing a line and concealing it by folding the paper, before passing it to the next one. When completed it was read aloud, creating much fun and laughter. The third contest was to see how many words could be made in a given time from the word "Matrimony." The winners in each presented the favors to the honoree.

Tap Dance Feature.

The packages were opened and passed around, and such an array of lovely and useful gifts have seldom been seen.

Mrs. Turner then served a lovely refreshment plate of ice cream and angel food cake, iced in pink and the announcement was made by means of a pair of tiny red heart stickpins, upon which were inscribed "Murphy" and "Swint."

In the dining room the table was laid with pink crepe paper runners and centered with a re-

LARGEST MILITARY SPENDING PROGRAM IN YEARS IS OKED

APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE APPROVES BIG EXPENDITURE FOR NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (P)--The largest military spending program in 15 years was started through congress today.

The house appropriations committee wrote its ok upon expenditure of $318,131,482 by the army during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936. It told the war department it might pledge an additional $7,686,753 for airplanes. The total recommended was $48,815,548 more than the 1935 appropriations.

The committee said it stood ready to provide additional funds if President Roosevelt takes advantage of the authority the bill gives him to increase the army's strength from 118,750 to 165,000 men.

Taking the navy into account, the committee's report said, the 1936 budget for national defense is approximately $100,000,000 in excess of the largest regular annual appropriations made for national defense since the enactment of the budget law in 1921. The committee's action on the navy supply bill has not yet been reported, but the budget approved by President Roosevelt called for $792,000,000 for the two military branches.

Budget Amount Raised.
The committee boosted the war department's military allowance $672,205 over budget recommendations. Members of congress pointed out that, once a money bill has weathered the appropriations committee, its battle is much more than half won.

In addition to the contemplated outlay, appropriations for the army and navy, they are slated to receive $20,000,000 each from public works funds to be brought in under a separate pending estimate. The army's slice of this money will be for construction at military posts, erecting an airbase in Hawaii and for seacoast defenses.

"Unquestionably, additional amount will be forthcoming from recovery funds for army housing and river and harbor and flood control projects," the committee said.

"Unquestionably, additional amount will be forthcoming from recovery funds for army housing and river and harbor and flood control projects," the committee said.

Rivers and harbors and related non-military activities of the war department were allowed $60,567,966, a $134,878 cut under the previous year.

Additional Planes.
The committee authorized the army to contract for 547 additional planes at an estimated cost of $7,686,753. It was explained 450 planes for the regular army and 97 for the organized reserves would be for replacements during 1935, at the end of which 1,367 will be on hand. The new machines would raise the total to 1,445.

The air corps as a whole drew $45,600,444, compared with $26,376,490 this year. The committee explained the increase was "for expansion in various directions, but very largely for new airplanes." Provision was made to increase pilots' flying hours from 225 to 300 a year, as recommended by the aviation investigating board headed by Newton D. Baker.

In addition to authorizing the president from time to time to increase the army strength to 165,000 if he sees fit, the measure would permit him to provide a 5,000 increase in the national guard from the present total of approximately 187,000. The total funds approved for the national guard were $33,630,866, a $5,555,832 increase over 1935.

Sheriff Cato And Three Others Are Indicted Murder

DALLAS, Feb. 19.--(P)--Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county and three other West Texans were indicted by a federal grand jury today on murder charges for the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, a federal narcotic agent at Post, Texas, Feb. 7.

Beside the sheriff, the indictment named Dr. L. W. Kitchen, a veterinarian; Dr. V. A. Hartman, a physician; and Tom Morgan, Post farmer deputized by the sheriff shortly before the shooting, which occurred on the main street in front of the Kitchen veterinary hospital.

Stafford lost his life while he and another narcotic agent were in Post making an investigation of the grand jury also returned indictments against Dr. Kitchen and Dr. Hartman charging them with violation of the anti-narcotic laws. Bond in the narcotic cases was set at $2,500 each.

At a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Lee R. Smith, the attorney for the Post men, Walter Scott of Fort Worth, admitted that the indictments constituted sufficient grounds for holding the four accused men. The commissioner set their trial for May 20 in Lubbock. The commissioner has no authority to make bond in the murder cases.

ROOSEVELT SAYS ABANDONMENT WOULD MEAN RETURN CHAOS

MINIMUM HOURS AND WAGES AND FAIR COMPETITION MUST BE MAINTAINED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—A Presidential message recommending a two-year extension of NRA with fundamental principles renewed met a senatorial determination today to investigate the recovery law's vast code structure.

"The fundamental purposes and principles of the act are sound," the President told congress. "To abandon them is unthinkable."

The long-awaited message on this key new deal agencies, whose spectacular flight so long was headed by dynamic Hugh S. Johnson, was read to an expectant congress shortly after the senate finance committee approved a resolution to investigate NRA.

Chairman Harrison said the inquiry asked by senators Nye (D-Ind.) and McCarran (D-Nev.) would begin at once in preparation for framing the new NRA law.

Naming the recovery administration as the biggest factor in giving re-employment to approximately 4,000,000 people, Mr. Roosevelt stressed these essentials for continuation:

Federal establishment of minimum fair trade practices and labor relation standards; continued fixing of minimum wages and maximum hours and protection for employees "freely to organize" for collective bargaining.

Child labor would be outlawed as would be private price-fixing.

Mr. Roosevelt said the way to obtain code enforcement was "not to seek to put people in jail," his own view, elaborated at a press conference, was to prevent what Johnson called "chiselers" from doing damage before it occurred through quick action.

His message urged "more adequate" application of the anti-trust laws' fundamental principles but left the method to congress.

Some confusion as to whether the President's message recommended extension also of the second title of the recovery law—that setting up the public works administration.

Informed sources said the PWA was taken care of in the pending $480,000,000 relief bill, while the oil administration came under the NRA title of the law.

As the message was received in the senate and house, NRA concluded the first of an expected series of hearings on charges of monopolistic conduct by code authorities—in this instance the automobile sprinkler industry.

Before the house labor committee Francis J. Gorman, organization director of the United Textile workers, said the labor's faith in NRA had been shaken by a lack of code enforcement.

Mr. Roosevelt told congress child labor must not be allowed to return; the fixing of minimum wages and maximum hours is local and necessary.

"The rights of employees freely to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining should be fully protected."

"The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied."

"Monopolies and private price fixing must not be allowed nor condoned."

But in the case of such natural resources as oil, coal and gas, the President said the people "need government supervision" to eliminate waste, control output and establishment so that the public will be protected from "ruinous price-cutting."

"In the development of this legislation," the President said, "I call your attention to the obvious fact that the way to enforce laws, codes and regulations relating to industrial practices is not to seek to put people in jail."

"We need other and more effective means for the immediate stopping of practices by any individual or by any corporation which are contrary to these principles."

The message heartily endorsed

SENATE MAJORITY FAVORS STOPPING INJUNCTION SUITS

MINIMUM HOURS AND WAGES AND FAIR COMPETITION MUST BE MAINTAINED

AUSTIN, Feb. 20. (AP)—A majority sentiment in the senate favors a bill to prohibit injunctions against railroad commission orders without a hearing was revealed today on test votes.

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson unleashed a bitter attack against oil legislation specifically pointed to East Texas oil field, but lost 19 to 7, an attempt to return the house bill to a committee for further study. By a vote of 22 to 5 the bill was set for special order tomorrow.

Senator Clint Small of Amarillo opposed attempts to delay action asserting the bill urged by the attorney general was necessary. He cited suits to enjoin enforcement of the commission's requiring tenders for transportation of crude or product as evidence of the need.

Hill questioned constitutionality of the act. He charged the bill with a "substitute offered by Small, a substitute of dumping all oil litigation in Travis county, which has become nothing short of a racket."

He complained all activities of the railroad commission and attorney general were directed at East Texas, "while they have the same kind of hot oil" in other producing areas.

The bill was set for special order to give senators time to study a substitute offered by Small. It would require hearings five days after notices, consider commission oil order prima facie valid, require execution of surety bonds by persons obtaining injunctions, and give appeals preference in appellate courts.

The senate passed and sent to the governor a house bill to permit payment of one-half of common and independent school district taxes prior to payment of others.

A resolution to provide for teaching Texas history in public schools was adopted.

Another house bill passed would authorize El Paso and Hudspeth county road districts to levy a tax for secondary and preparing highway rights of way.

The emergency NRA which expires next June, saying it was the biggest factor in giving re-employment to approximately 4,000,000 people.

"We must rightly move to correct some things done or left undone," he said. "We must work out a co-ordination of every code with every other code. We must simplify procedure."

The President left to congress the definition of policies and standards for the new law.

"I call your attention to the obvious fact that the way to enforce laws, codes and regulations relating to industrial practices is not to seek to put people in jail."

"We need other and more effective means for the immediate stopping of practices by any individual or by any corporation which are contrary to these principles."

The message heartily endorsed

"The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied."

"Monopolies and private price fixing must not be allowed nor condoned."

REVIEW OF NATIONAL RECOVERY ACT AND ITS FUTURE AIMS ARE GIVEN ROOSEVELT MESSAGE

MINIMUM HOURS AND WAGES AND FAIR COMPETITION MUST BE MAINTAINED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—Here is the text of President's message to congress on NRA. To the congress of the United States:

On May 17, 1933, I asked the congress to "provide for the machinery necessary for a great co-operative movement throughout all industry in order to obtain wide re-employment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction."

The national industrial recovery act was passed by the congress in June, 1933, and the administrative machinery to carry it into effect was set up during the succeeding month.

It is worth remembering that the purpose of this law challenged the imagination of the American people and received their overwhelming support.

Enforcement during the earlier life of the act was not a problem which gave the country concern for the very good reason that public opinion served as an enforcing agency which potential violators did not dare to oppose.

The immediate objective was to check the downward spiral of the great depression and it met this objective and started us on our forward path.

Estimates Too Low. It is now clear that in the spring and summer of 1933 many estimates of unemployment in the United States were far too low and we are therefore apt to forget today that the national industrial recovery act was the biggest factor in giving re-employment to approximately 4,000,000 people.

The age long curse of child labor has been lifted, the sweatshop outlawed, millions of wage earners have been released from the starvation wages and excessive hours of labor.

Under it a great advance has been made in the opportunities and assurances of collective bargaining between employers and employees. Under it the pattern of a new order of industrial relations is definitely taking shape.

Industry as a whole has also made gains. It has been freed, in part at least, from dishonest competition brought about not only by overworking and underpaying labor but by destructive business practices.

New Safeguards. We have begun to develop new safeguards for small enterprises; and most important of all, business itself recognizes more clearly than at any previous time in our history the advantages and the obligations of co-operation and self-discipline, and the patriotic need of ending unsound financing and unfair practices of all kinds.

Hand in hand with the improving of labor conditions and of industrial practices we have given representation and consideration to the problems of the consuming public.

And it is reasonable to state that with certain inevitable exceptions in the case of individual products there has been less gouging in retail sales and prices.

The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied. Monopolies and private price fixing must not be allowed nor condoned.

But in the case of such natural resources as oil, coal and gas, the President said the people "need government supervision" to eliminate waste, control output and establishment so that the public will be protected from "ruinous price-cutting."

"The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied."

"Monopolies and private price fixing must not be allowed nor condoned."

But in the case of such natural resources as oil, coal and gas, the President said the people "need government supervision" to eliminate waste, control output and establishment so that the public will be protected from "ruinous price-cutting."

"In the development of this legislation," the President said, "I call your attention to the obvious fact that the way to enforce laws, codes and regulations relating to industrial practices is not to seek to put people in jail."

"We need other and more effective means for the immediate stopping of practices by any individual or by any corporation which are contrary to these principles."

The message heartily endorsed the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied. Monopolies and private price fixing within industries must not be allowed nor condoned. "No monopoly should be private."

But I submit that in the case of certain natural resources, such as coal, oil and gas, the people of the United States need government supervision over these resources devised for the purpose of eliminating their waste and of controlling their output and stabilizing employment in them to the end that the public will be protected and that ruinous price cutting and inordinate profits will both be denied.

We must continue to recognize that incorrigible minorities within an industry or in the whole field of trade and industry, should not be allowed to write the rules of unfair play and compel all others to compete upon their low level.

We must make certain that the privilege of co-operating to prevent unfair competition will not be transformed into a license to strangle fair competition under the apparent sanction of the law.

Small enterprises especially should be given added protection against discrimination and oppression.

In the development of this legislation I call your attention to the obvious fact that the way to enforce laws, codes and regulations relating to industrial practices is not to seek to put people in jail.

We need other and more effective means for the immediate stopping of practices by any individual or by any corporation which are contrary to these principles.

Detailed recommendations along the lines which I have indicated have been made to me by various departments and agencies charged with the execution of the present law.

These are available for the consideration of the congress, and although not furnishing anything like a precise and finished draft of legislation, they may be helpful to you in your deliberations.

Let me urge upon the congress the necessity for an extension of the present act.

The progress we have been able to make has shown us the vast scope of the problems in our industrial life.

We need a certain degree of flexibility and of specialized treatment for our knowledge of the processes and the necessities of this life are still incomplete.

By your action you will sustain and hasten the process of industrial recovery which we are now experiencing; you will lighten the burdens of unemployment and economic insecurity.

reading of the charge to the jury by Special District Judge Norris W. Lovett.

Cleo G. Miller, special prosecutor, and former criminal district attorney, opened the arguments for the state. He was followed by Richard Mays, defense. A. P. Mays finished for the defense while John B. Curington, criminal district attorney, will close for the state this afternoon.

Much interest in the case. Interest in the case was still maintained and standing room was at a premium Wednesday morning as has been the case since the trial opened a week ago.

Garrison entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned last Wednesday and the trial has been bitterly contested throughout.

The trial was interrupted Monday morning when Miss Turner Mae Garner, Corsicana public school teacher, daughter of John T. Garner, one of the jurors, was stricken and died. By agreement, the juror, with Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd accompanying him, was allowed to go to his home and returned to the jury late Tuesday following the funeral rites.

Testimony was concluded Saturday afternoon.

Judge Delivers Charge. Included in the charge delivered to the jury by Judge Lovett were definitions of murder, with and without malice, self defense, delirium tremens, acute alcoholic hallucinosis, etc., giving the penalties prescribed by law in event of conviction, and also dealing with the application for suspended sentence in the event of conviction.

The charge included several verdict forms for use after a decision had been reached.

The charge defined murder with malice as the wrongful act done intentionally without cause or excuse. Punishment of murder with malice is by death, life imprisonment or any term of years not less than two. The penalty for conviction of murder without malice is from two to five years.

Insanity Defined. It was brought out in the charge that temporary insanity, delirium tremens, acute alcoholic hallucinosis were kinds of insanity recognized by law and that a person must be of sound mind, sane and sane before they can be punished for crime.

The charge also contained a provision setting forth that intoxication or temporary insanity of mind, produced by voluntary use of ardent spirits, is not an excuse.

The jurors were instructed that a person was presumed to be innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, and also defined self defense and the condition of a defendant's mind at the time of the shooting as to whether he thought his life was in danger from an armed hijacker.

The twelve men were also instructed that the indictment against Jim Garrison or his motion for a suspended sentence if convicted was no evidence of guilt and was not to be thus considered.

ARGUMENTS STARTED IN GARRISON CASE ON WEDNESDAY MORNING

MINIMUM HOURS AND WAGES AND FAIR COMPETITION MUST BE MAINTAINED

THE SENSITIVE GARDEN
Gardens are sensitive. Their charm
The slightest touch of frost will harm
But grass and flower are soonest wrecked
By cold indifference and neglect.

Like timid souls that shrink to hear
The stinging phrases of a sneer
Gardens grow suddenly forlorn Beneath the first sharp hint of scorn.

Gardens grieve deeply. Sorrow shows
Plainly on peony and rose,
And utter desolation starts
When the good gardener departs.

When the blithe spirits leaves the place
Which her devotion used to grace
And ruin round it starts to fall,
The garden shows it first of all.

SCIENCE IN THE AIR.

The Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, in its meeting at Columbia university, heard reports of amazing progress.

There is a new method of air mass analysis which may soon lead to accurate weather predictions as much as 36 hours in advance. There are new uses for stainless steel for aircraft and cables. There is a method of blind landing
by means of a radio beam which gives the pilot knowledge of his vertical position within five feet, and of his lateral position within fifty feet.

Recent methods of soundproofing airplane cabins were described. There were plans to improve the comfort of passengers as well as pilots in the matter of noise, vibration, ventilation, odors, temperature, atmosphere pressure and other matters.

Pan-American Airways stated that it expected to inaugurate a regular service to Hawaii before long.
The same methods of navigation, weather service and traffic messages now used in the Caribbean, by means of radio telegraphy, would be pursued.

There was a great deal of discussion of weather service. Jimmy Doolittle, asked to contribute to this,
said in his recent flight across the continent his criticism was not of the men who predicted the weather but of the powers that made it. And he added that the automatic pilot had relieved him of much strain.

All in all, air service seems to be looking up.

OSUMIS AND VINSONS

The fire eaters are at it again. In parliament at Tokio, Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the navy, is quoted as saying that the Japanese people must be prepared to see through any naval race which may eventuate, "even if we are reduced to eating rice gruel."

Representative Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, has not gone that far yet. He has only said that he was ready to do his part to have the United States build five battleships for every three built by Japan.
But it appears that he was prepared to say more—this occurred before Japan's denunciation of the Washington treaty—and was only prevented from doing so by what is said to have been an admonition from the white house.

At any rate, when reading what the big preparedness men of Japan say it is always well to keep in mind that for every Osumi we have a Vinson. And keeping this in mind, perhaps it will be possible to hope that the stars will fall on Geneva
when the great powers resume their discussion of disarmament problems.

tensive as new work.

And this must go on—for there will be little or no reduction in the extent of automotive traffic. We must keep mending and improving our "ways" year
after year, making them better all the time. It is a continuing process, with its advantages extending not simply to the people using the roads, but to the many thousands of workers rebuilding them to current requirements.

Many of our ingenious citizens will not be able to hit the high road to prosperity again until a sucker crop is available.

JUVENILE UNEMPLOYMENT

Perhaps the most serious depression problem is finding something for young men and women to do when they come out of school. It is not a problem peculiar to the United States. It is a world problem.

Of the 25,000,000 unemployed in the world, upwards of 7,000,000 are under 25.
The figures are from a recent report issued by the International Labor Office in Geneva.

Next June the International Labor Conference will study juvenile unemployment and in preparation the Labor Office is getting recommendations concerning the various methods the nations are using to deal with the problem. Two are recommended.

First is the obvious one of trying every means to stimulate private enterprises that more jobs may be available.

Second, it is proposed that the school-leaving age be raised; that the minimum age for employment be increased, and the retirement age for elderly workers be lowered.

Austria, Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Danzig, Denmark, Finland, Germany, Holland, New Zealand, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States have labor camps for young men unable to find other employment. In all these countries this is regarded as an emergency provision.

The task of enabling youth to prepare for and to assume responsibilities of maturity has to do with the safety of civilization. It challenges the best thought of all peoples.

VESSELS OF HONOR
SUBJECT OF ADDRESS
FOR MEN'S BANQUET

REV. THOMAS LENOX MAIN
SPEAKER FOR METHODIST
MEN'S BROTHERHOOD

The Rev. Thomas Lenox, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered the principal address at the February meeting of the Men's Brotherhood banquet of the First Methodist church in the religious educational building at 7:30 Tuesday evening, using as his subject
"Vessels of Honor."

W. P. McCammon, immediate past president, had charge of the program, and the newly elected president, Boyce Martin, named W. H. Norwood, superintendent of the public schools, as program chairman for the March meeting.
It was announced by Rev. Neal, pastor of the church, that on account of the pre-Easter revival planned for the church,
the April meeting will be postponed.

With Mrs. W. P. McCammon playing the accompaniment, H. E.
Metcalfe led in the singing of two verses of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the invocation was pronounced by Mr. Neal. A tempting dinner, consisting of baked turkey and dressing and gravy, turnips, sweet potatoes topped with marshmallows, corn, jelly, hot rolls, combination salad, pie and coffee, was prepared and served by the Missionary Society circles of Mrs. Joe E. Fortson and Mrs. A. A. Albers.

The speaker, after studying at the feet of a highly educated woman, who radiated a Christian life, and then showed that she achieved all her greatness in spite of her early home life in a wilderness.

the feet of a highly educated woman, who radiated a Christian
life, and then showed that she achieved all her greatness in spite of her early home life in a wilderness.

"Granting that we are clay in the hands of God, the potter, and being molded on the wheel of time," the speaker said, "why did some of the vessels break? They crumbled because they had weak spots, and could not stand the pressure of God's hand."

"In the final analysis, you are sole possessor of your will, and in your hands alone rests the kind of vessel you will be made into by God, the potter, molded upon the wheel of time—if you are the proper kind of clay, you will build your lives as lives of honor and usefulness, and lives for eternity."

After the program, chairman and speaker were appointed Martin, and it was announced the date will be set later, the benediction was pronounced by W. M.
Huff.

President Martin presented Program Chairman Norwood, who in turn introduced Mrs. A. L. Absher and Mrs. Boyce Martin in two vocal duets, with Mrs. W. P. Mc-Cammon as the accompanist.

The numbers singing "Glorious Hope" and a hymn, "Look for the Beautiful," President Martin then presented Mr. Neal, who introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Neal made several good-natured facetious remarks about the speaker, and then recalled many pleasant experiences with pastors and members of the church.

He took his text from a portion of Jeremiah, and announced his subject, "Vessels of Honor."

Mr. Lenox conducted his hearers on a short tour from Jerusalem in Biblical time, and took them to a potter's house.

"There we find the clay moist, plastic and pliable in the hands of the potter," he went on. "We find the wheel of the potter turning and under the touch of the master craftsman, who is trying to mold the vessel according to a definite plan and design in his mind. As we see the wheel spinning at a fast rate of speed, the potter is applying clay, and expects to model a vessel of honor, and one of character."

Falls in Fragments.
"We see the vessel fall to pieces, and fall in fragments at the potter's feet. The potter doesn't go after new clay, but picks up the old and starts to mold it over again. The vision of the Lord appears to him, and he compares the scene to Israel, with the people as the clay, the Lord the potter, trying to make those people into a vessel of honor," the speaker declared.

"This message comes so near to the heart, because so many times the people of Israel fell from the hands of God, into fragments, and often this symbolism has been used by writers," Mr. Lenox declared. "The Old Testament symbolism has convinced me of its universality," Mr. Lenox declared.

"I want you to think for a minute, upon the potter, and God, and as every human the potter, God has a definite plan for every life, and hopes to make each life a "vessel of honor." We also find,
however, vessels of dishonor, which are contrary to God's designs. God holds a masterful image—one of service and beauty and grandeur—before us, and tries to fashion each character after that of Jesus Christ.

Image Before Us.
"God holds this image before us, and often it fails to make its impression upon us. We fail to see that God means good for us, and sometimes we think it is evil
He intends.

"I want you to think for a few minutes, upon the potter, and the circumstances, the wheel upon which the potter works. On this wheel of time we find lives of honor, but too, we find it a wheel of vicissitude, and lives are broken upon it, and therefore, it is a neutral wheel," the First Christian pastor continued.

He showed by example that many times some of the greatest characters of history come from modest and even rude circumstances, while on the other hand, others come from fine and great surroundings. For instance, the speaker pointed to the lowly and humble beginning of Lincoln, and

GERMANY ACCUSED OF AGGRESSION PLANS BY SOVIET PAPER

GERMANS GETTING READY FOR WAR IN CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Foreign Staff
MOSCOW, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The official organs of Soviet opinion upbraided Germany today with accusations of plans for aggression in both Eastern and Central Europe.

On the heels of the approval of the London agreements extended by Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, on the condition they are made effective in their entirety, the authoritative press pictured the Nazis as hungry for war under the disguise of "diplomatic chattering."

General display was given charges by the Czechoslovakian newspaper Narodna Prava that Japan, Germany and Poland were preparing for war against the Soviet Union. The influential Pravda and Izvestia, however, concentrated their attacks on Germany with incidental licks at England.

"German fascism," Narodna Prava, "is getting ready to occupy east and central Europe in order to prepare for war on the western front. That is why it is against the eastern pacts and mutual assistance."

With English help
"Further, it is trying with English help to destroy Franco-Soviet cooperation. The English bourgeoisie must take into account that the mass of English toilers does not want war and does not approve of encouraging the adventurist policy of German fascism."

"The English government has taken to complicated maneuvers, but is now faced by the general conclusion that it is necessary to accelerate the completion of regional pacts, above all the eastern pact, and that it is up to the English ruling circles to promote this end."

Seek Ungratified Adherence
Soviet Russia has lined with France and Great Britain in an effort to obtain from Germany a qualified adherence to the principles of the London agreements.

Russia's views were contained in messages sent by Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, to the French and British governments and made public last night.

The French and British governments set forth that Soviet support for the London program is conditioned by insistence that it shall be carried out in full.

This attitude conforms exactly with that taken by both Great Britain and France in the face of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's intimation that he would prefer to consider the proposed defense air alliance separately.

DEAD REVIVED

ered him with a sheet but insisted on his being taken to stay with him until the undertaker arrived.

"I went back in a few minutes and decided to try adrenalin," said Dr. Bryant. "The adrenalin was injected through the chest into his heart through a Power puncture needle, and his heart began to beat. He began to breathe lightly. His oxygen was forced into his lungs from a gas machine. His color picked up and soon he appeared to be much better. He apparently had a typical attack of coronary occlusion."

Ten hours later the patient appeared normal, Dr. Bryant said. His pulse was of good volume and his chest was clear except for a few moist rales at the base.

Dr. Bryant was reluctant to discuss the case and would not compare it to a similar case reported recently in England, where a man "died," was revived and told of his vision of the hereafter.

Strang, upon revival, weakly said: "I was sure gone that time, doctor. I don't know how you did it."

Then he asked for his watch. He has not talked since.

Bringing Dead Back To Life Now Common

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Bringing the dead back to life in cases like W. A. Strang of Tyler, Texas, is rapidly becoming common medical practice.

New York City and Chicago alone record about 500 such cases in the last three years. The rapid spread of this healing art in handling stopped hearts is something new in medicine, although the fact that it could be done has been known for years.

Up to 1930 medical literature recorded only about 30 cases of this kind. In all of them persons whose hearts had stopped were restored to life by something which mechanically started the beat again.

These mechanical restorers were originally injection of adrenalin, called the other stimulant. It was found that the stimulant had less to do with restarting the heart than the prick of the needle which injected the drug.

So hearts were started merely by irritating them with a needle. Surgeons did it during operations. If the patient's heart was within reach simply by closing a hand over the organ, naturally compressing and releasing.

Electric Current Used.
A slight electric current was then found to be very effective. The very latest methods are some developed at Johns Hopkins University, Columbia University and in Chicago of shooting a slight electric shock through the body. This electric current has to be placed expertly so as to hit the heart just right. This "sometimes restores life, particularly after the 'death' has been caused by electric shock."

Medically these persons with stopped hearts are not really dead. Actually no one is dead until two or three up to 10 minutes after the heart stops.

The stopping of the heart used to be the final criterion of death because physicians had no means of starting a heart again. What scientists learned hearts raised interesting questions as to exactly when death comes.

Fifteen Minutes is Record.
In the medical records 15 minutes is the outside limit so far as

The heart is concerned. Some of the bodily organs live for days. Others die very quickly. But the hope of pushing death back further than already done is slight, because the brain seems to die more quickly than any other organ. It is suspected that a person brought back after death has started to permeate the brain, would not have their full mental powers.

Hearts cannot be restarted in death. This restoration to life is limited to about a dozen types of disease or accident. These include carbon monoxide poisoning, electric shock of some mild type, drowning, anaesthesia, some infections, infantile paralysis, mechanical asphyxiation, pulmonary complications, lung collapse, drug poisoning and fires.

A good number of these "dead" have been observed for signs of approach to some "other world" after the heart stopped. All the medical evidences point to this condition being merely a deeper form of unconsciousness rather than real death.

PLANE DEATHS

Officials described the dual deaths as the strangest air tragedy in Europe since Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, the famous Belgian financier, disappeared July 4, 1928, from a cabin plane over the English channel.

Letters to Parents.
The two letters were said to have been addressed to the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coert Du Bois. Their father is United States consul general at Naples.

The bodies landed in a baggage patch, close to the edge of town. The impact drove them a foot into the soft soil. The first police on the scene outlined the spot with rows of wooden pegs.

The plane was operated by Hillman Saloon Coaches and Airways, Ltd., which runs passenger services from Romford to Paris.

A Hillman official said the doors on their cabin planes lock from the inside. "A cabin door cannot be opened from the inside," said the official when the pressure from the slipstream of the propeller would be sufficiently strong to hold the door shut against the strength of the two women.

Elizabeth was 23 years old; Jane was 20. They had stayed for the last three or four days at a hotel in the west-end of London.

Appeared Badly Upset.
One of the attendants there said: "For the last day or two they appeared to be very upset about something. They seemed rather hysterical and cried a lot. I have no idea as to what was the matter or what was the reason for their tears."

During September, the two were said to have stayed at a private address in the west-end.

The two letters found in the plane were addressed one to the father and one to the mother. The police in charge of the letters, then sealed the airplane's doors after they had examined the 40 pounds of baggage apparently left on the plane by the sisters.

The airplane is a biplane with two engines and with seats for eight passengers.

The girls were at first believed to be French because of their clothing but later authorities said they had established their identity "without a doubt" as the Misses Du Bois.

Their father is Coert Du Bois, 54, a native of Hudson, N. Y., but now with his legal residence at 100, Francis Street, New York.

The former Miss Margaret Mendell of Boston. They were married Aug. 1, 1910. The two daughters were their only children.

The plane was dropped from the sky to the Hillman Air Lines. The pilot apparently flew on for an hour after the girls fell to their deaths without knowing of the fate of his two passengers.

But Jane and Elizabeth were beautiful girls and among the most popular members of Italian society here. Friends said that both appeared to be in excellent spirits when they last saw them.

Workmen Witness Plunge.
The death plunge was witnessed by a group of workmen who glanced up into the sky as the sound of the plane's motor roar. Just as their gazes went north, they saw two objects which first they did not identify as human, hurtling down at the ground.

Remembering the recent experience in the loss of her gold mine, the group rushed to the spot expecting to find strong boxes. Instead, the men were horrified to see the mutilated bodies of the two girls.

The girls were the only passengers in the plane which, in addition, carried only 40 pounds of baggage.

The pilot was Jane Kirtson. Death must have come to the girls within 15 minutes after the plane took off from Romford, for Umptinister is just about that flying time from the airport.

It was believed that the distance of the fall was about 1,500 feet, for that is the normal altitude of the Hillman planes when they descend over Umptinister.

Bodies Embedded in Ground.
A shattered wrist watch engraved with the initials "J. Du B." was found near the bodies. They were embedded one foot into the ground.

The full name of the Hillman Service is "Hillman Saloon Coaches and Airways, Limited." It operates passenger services between Romford and Clacton-on-sea and Paris.

Pilot Kirtson was the same man who was flying the London-bound plane late in January which applied $110,000 worth of gold bars out on the French coast. The gold was lost during a strong gust of wind. It was found subsequently by searchers.

An official of the Hillman lines said Kirtson was an excellent pilot and has a distinguished record for negotiating rough-weather channel crossings.

Police rushed to the spot where the bodies lay discovered a woman's handbag and several articles of clothing a short distance away.

ARKANSAS

outlets, professional trouble-makers," say the tenant-plantation owners, relief officials and many local authorities.

First legislative action was creating last week of an investigating committee to inquire into the teachings and personnel of Commonwealth Labor College, near Mena, in western Arkansas.

Actually, the committee has been told to find out if these economic upheavals in Arkansas are internal growing pains or the external evidence of a much broader thing.

One member of the investigating committee already has disclosed plans for asking congressional action.

"It is my opinion that Commonwealth is not only teaches communism and radicalism but fosters it," said Rep. J. O. E. Beck of Crittenden.

Smiling, 28-year-old Lucien Koch, director of the school, replied:

"Every activity at Commonwealth is covered by the bill of rights. If you close Commonwealth, it will mark the death of civil liberties in the South."

Legislative attention was focused on Commonwealth because Koch and others connected with the school played prominent roles in both the eastern Arkansas sharecropper disputes and the western Arkansas relief strike agitation.

HOOVER

Under the terms of the bill as it was, "another democratic leader asserted, 'the president could have made that allocation himself. He didn't have to ask congress to give him authority to do that.'"

"He resented, apparently, new demands for expenditures on things he hasn't included in his budget, and figures that is the way to stop them."

The police, conducting a preliminary investigation, carefully searched the area where the bodies fell with rows of wooden pegs.

Mother Prostrated

NAPLES, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Coert Du Bois, wife of the United States Consul General and mother of the two girls killed in a plunge from an airplane today in England, was overcome today when informed of the deaths of her daughters.

She said Elizabeth, 23 years old, and Jane, 20, had gone to Paris last Saturday and had planned to go to London later.

Both Jane and Elizabeth were in the United States in San Francisco but the family has lived abroad in the service of the United States for a number of years.

Both Jane and Elizabeth were beautiful girls and among the most popular members of Italian society here. Friends said that both appeared to be in excellent spirits when they last saw them.

Du Bois himself learned of his daughters' deaths at his office where a message from London reached him.

Friends said he would start for London at once. The consulate will be closed tomorrow as a sign of mourning.

Interest in Markets

"We are, of course, intensely interested in a market and fair price for natural gas at the wells. This condition can and should be improved by finding additional markets for natural gas at home and through new pipe line outlets to industrial centers that now suffer great shortage of fuel gas at prices within the limits of economic profit."

Allred referred to pending negotiations with the federal government for construction with public works funds of a giant pipe line from the Panhandle to Northern industrial centers and said it was "both reasonable and plausible" to establish additional markets.

GAS WASTAGE

or beneficial purposes such as light, fuel or manufacture.

"But blowing this product into the open air—as also is the blowing of any natural gas into the open air beyond practical limitations required incident to production of oil—is intolerable under sound conservation policy. The gigantic waste of natural gas in Texas has attracted the attention of the state and nation. This waste must be stopped."

Governor Allred said the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Cities Service Company and other large corporations "led the parade" for oil promotion in the view of this gross inconsistency, the executives of these great corporations can pursue such policies without reflecting on the intelligence of the people of Texas.

The history of these combines, however, is sufficient to leave no room for shock in the minds of those conversant therewith.

These corporations, Allred said, financed pipe lines to Chicago and other large cities on the representation of ownership of gas reserves they did not fully own.

"Their purpose was to drain from the gas lands both within and without their ownership the requirements of gas for these lines, thus doing great and irreparable injury to thousands of land owners and small producers by disallowing the benefits of a saleable purchase and withdrawal."

Governor Allred said he believed it was essential to insure effective regulation that interlocking ownership in the gas industry, through holding companies, be prohibited.

He warned against any attempt at price fixing because "it is off the charted course and presents a serious constitutional question and x x x also might bring us face to face with the question of federal control of this natural resource."

He outlined a situation wholly repugnant to the interest of the state in the exclusive exercise of its right to handle its own internal problems. x x x Should natural gas production be declared interstate commerce and subject to exclusive federal control, then the state might be forever precluded from its right to levy taxes upon this resource.

"We are, of course, intensely interested in a market and fair price for natural gas at the wells. This condition can and should be improved by finding additional markets for natural gas at home and through new pipe line outlets to industrial centers that now suffer great shortage of fuel gas at prices within the limits of economic profit."

Allred referred to pending negotiations with the federal government for construction with public works funds of a giant pipe line from the Panhandle to Northern industrial centers and said it was "both reasonable and plausible" to establish additional markets.

NRA FIGHT

lines formed for sharp controversy on such major issues as monopoly, application of the anti-trust laws, "oppression" of the business "little fellow" and other topics which have been subjects of dissension since early blue eagle days.

Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee said that so far as he knew the Richberg recommendations had been sent only to himself and Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee.

"They're on my desk now," Doughton said, "but I can't tell you what they are because they did not come up until today and I have not even read them."

He added that as soon as he could spare the time from congressional duties he would study the recommendations, but reminded newsmen that "we'll draw our own bill."

There was no doubt at all in the minds of legislators that one of the fiercest struggles probably would rage around section 7-A—the collective bargaining provision. They noted that President Roosevelt simply called for protection of "the rights of employees freely to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining" and did not disclose whether he desired the section changed or continued as it is.

Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.), who holds that the recovery act has failed to gain some of the ends expected of it, planned to introduce today his revised labor disputes bill. There have been repeated reports that it would provide majority rule in collective bargaining, a principle vigorously opposed by many industrialists, and would seek to prohibit what labor leaders call "company unions." It also has been said the bill would strengthen the labor relations board, making it a sort of "supreme court" for labor disputes.

Administration Adviser.
Wagner has been one of the administration's principle advisers on labor and social matters and has been hoping that the administration would back his bill. So far as is known, such support has not yet been forthcoming.

Donald Richberg, director of the national emergency council, said revision of section 7-A was a matter entirely for congress to decide, but he expressed the personal opinion that the section was adequate.

Another labor union drive has important bearing on the NRA problem of maximum hours. The American Federation of Labor and others are striving to obtain enactment of the Black 30-hour week bill, fought by industrial and business leaders and frowned upon by high administration officials. This bill has just been approved by a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee and the full committee is expected to call it up next week.

had said when Reilly did not challenge the Corpus delicti. "Without waiting to the rest of us, Reilly suddenly announced that Lindbergh should know the body of his own child and let it go at that."

Data collected by Fawcett and his aides had been turned over by court order to the present defense attorneys.

Regarding these, Foster said: "We had produced seven experts in autopsy work who were prepared to show that the body found was not that of the Lindbergh baby."

"Three of our experts are undertakers who had served the federal government during the war as autopsy experts."

"We were going to challenge identification on three points, mainly."

The first place the body found was 33 1-2 inches long, whereas the Lindbergh baby was described at the time of the kidnapping as being only 29 inches long.

"We would show that a body does not decompose readily at a temperature below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Between March 1, 1932, when the baby disappeared, and May 12, when the body was discovered the mean average temperature was less than 47 degrees."

"The doctor who saw the body in Trenton was prepared to testify that it had been embalmed and that this fact was recognized at the time by one of the attending state physicians. 'We had plenty of the body and they disclosed the fact that it could not have been recognized, so decomposed it had become.'"

BONUS

Johnson and Lee Oklahoma democrats.

Rep. Blanton (D-Texas) arranged to petition the Patman measure to be hit to the legislative appropriation bill which provides for the payment of salaries to members of congress.

The Patman bill proposes to pay the bonus with new currency. The Vinson bill, backed by the American Legion, also would pay the adjusted service certificates immediately but does not indicate the method of raising the money. Legion officials have said it was their intent to leave the method of raising funds entirely in the hands of congress.

As the battle moved forward, it became known that the democratic committee on committees had at this session voted down the recommendation of the Texas delegation that Patman be assigned to the banking and currency committee.

"I guess they didn't like his easy money ideas," a friend of Patman said.

Another house member said he did not know where the re-election was made because of Patman's monetary philosophy, or because another Texan, Representative Cross, is already on the committee.

There were six candidates for the post that ultimately went to Representative Driscoll of Pennsylvania, a first term.

"It was a stiff fight, all right," a congressman said. "There were seven or eight ballots."

Opponents of the Patman bonus bill wondered whether the rejection meant that the democratic committee on committees, did not indicate disapproval of the inflation methods of raising the $2,000,000,000 pay off.

PRESIDING ELDER MAIN SPEAKER FOR EPWORTH UNION

Dr. C. R. Gray, presiding elder of the Corsicana Methodist district, was the main speaker at the Young People's Epworth Union which met Tuesday night, Feb. 19, in Kerens at the First Methodist church.

The devotional services were presided over by Dr. Gray while L. K. Carraway led the singing. The following is a brief outline of the program:

Songs—"I Must Tell Jesus," and "Jesus Came Into My Heart."

The prayer was given by Rev. Mr. Wilkins of Kerens.

"Young People and Prayer" was the theme of Dr. Gray's talk to the young people.

"Prayer brings an individual into God's grace and love, and there is only one approach toward the young people, and that is prayer," said the speaker. As he concluded his talk Dr. Gray said, "The way to reach that young man or woman is by the throne of God through prayer."

After the talk there were a few devotional prayers by the leaguers and which were closed by the presiding elder.

First Church of Corsicana then gave a short program on Washington which was as follows:

"America" played by Randolph Mitchell and sung by the young people.

A short and inspiring talk was given by Martha Martin on "Washington's Ideals."

"They Followed Him" a poem by Grace Noll Crowell, was read by Elizabeth Ann Blackburn.

Song—"Star Spangled Banner."

New officers for the coming year were elected by the leaguers, and they are Virginia Kerr, president, First Church, Corsicana;

John Leslie Yates, vice-president (re-elected), Eleventh Avenue;

Jewel Bruner, secretary-treasurer, Kerens; Elizabeth Ann Blackburn, program chairman, First Church, Corsicana;

Mrs. J. F. Adams, Union counselor, (re-elected), Eleventh Avenue; and Milton Campbell, reporter, (re-elected), Eleventh Avenue.

All the leaguers drove to an old syrup mill near Kerens for a winter roast and games which were enjoyed by all.

The meeting was dismissed by a stanza of "God Be With You" followed by a prayer to meet again in March at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist.

No. 22

Deduction For Interest

Amounts paid or accrued within the taxable year 1934 as interest on indebtedness are deductible, with certain exceptions, from gross income in determining net income.

Such items include interest on borrowed money to defray personal expenses, and on money borrowed for the purchase of real or personal property. If a person owes on his home, the interest on the interest may be deducted. Indebtedness, however, need not be evidenced by lien, judgment, or mortgage to make the interest on it deductible. Frequently indebtedness is evidenced only by a note.

Interest paid on indebtedness incurred in the purchase of obligations (other than obligations of the United States issued after September 24, 1917, and originally subscribed for by the taxpayer) the interest upon which is wholly exempt from Federal income tax, is not deductible. Interest paid on loans on life insurance policies is deductible provided the amount of the loan is not used for the purpose previously referred to in this paragraph.

Interest paid on behalf of a friend or relative where there is no legal obligation on the part of the payer is not deductible. In such cases the amount is the same as a gift.

As interest paid is deductible, so interest received is taxable. All such amounts, including interest received on bank and savings deposits, must be included in the taxpayer's return of gross income.

Cal Kerr says there are three elements for success in selling your property: modernization, long-term financing and advertising.

LEMONS AND LOVELINESS

USEFUL LEMONS

You can make creams of lemons, and the best of bleaches for the hands, the nails, even for the face. And lemons will guarantee you a really good home shampoo if you use them as Miss Forbes tells.

An open stall in a grocery and vegetable shop, where dozens of lemons were spread out to form a mass of pale gold under the lights, made me buy a dozen of this juicy and useful fruit, to make up some needed beauty things. Try this yourself some time—see the number of ways of improving your look which lemons can offer.

E. K. Forbes

Real lemon, of course; not synthetic lemon.

First of all, take the juice of one lemon first thing in the morning, in a glass of hot water, without any sweetening. This settles your stomach, makes it healthy, and gives you in fine shape for breakfast and the entire day. Counteracts acidity, even with those who usually cannot take lemon juice—as long as you take it without sugar. After that, make up some cosmetics.

Take the juice of four lemons, and put in into any sort of large bottle, and fill it up with water. This is enough for your next two shampoos at home, and it guarantees a shampoo that is excellent. For after shampooing the hair twice or three times, with rinses between, you rinse twice with very warm water, then you pour half this lemon mixture into a bowl, fill it up with warm water until you have about a quart, then pour this slowly through the hair, rubbing it into the scalp—then dry, or rinse with fresh water, as you choose. It makes the hair brighter and it takes off every last trace of soap as water alone cannot do.

The juice of two lemons in a small bottle—keep this corked, and wet wads of cotton with it to clean stains from the ringers, and also to keep the cuticle of the nails clean. It is claimed the astringent lemon keeps the cuticle from growing down too fast. You need oil on the nails after using the lemon, since it is mildly drying. Creams can be made from lemons, as well.

Mrs. B. H.—Most of the deep-pore cleansing fluids are very satisfying to use occasionally, but they should be followed with enough oil to counteract their extreme drying tendency.

M. C. C.—A boric acid solution is all right to soothe and cleanse where there is irritation, but you could not use it as a facial bath continually. You could use it for pimples to soothe the irritation they cause, but there are even better treatments for these. They should have antiseptic treatment, and if the cause for them is in the digestive system, that is the place to care for, first of all. Your trouble appears to be internal, as the illness of your skin precedes the pimples.

Magic Powder Is Cause Of Trouble Says Negro Woman

An aged negro woman appealed to Sheriff Rufus Fiechouse Tuesday for aid against the alleged practice of her son's wife putting "electricity powder" in her son's husband and gloves which she maintained "made him crazy and have fits."

The negro was arrested several days ago on a lunacy charge and later released when he appeared to be all right.

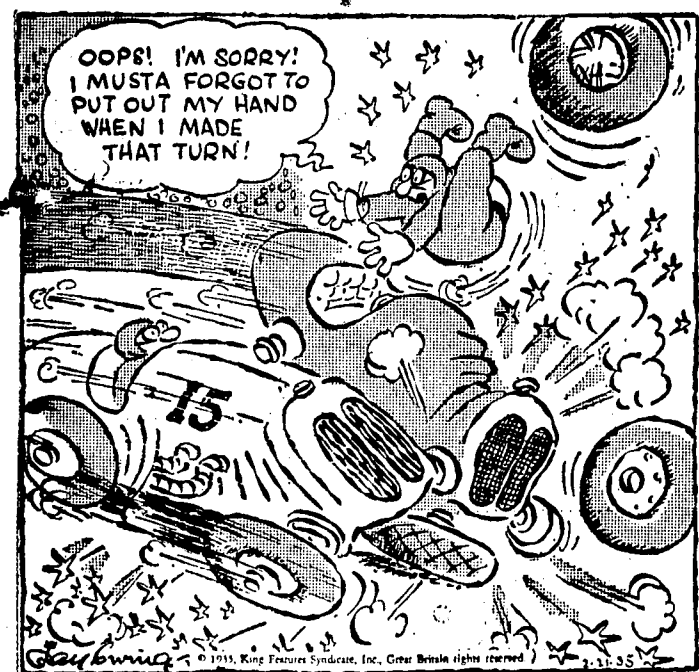

The aged negro firmly believes that the "electricity powder" is the source of her son's undoing.

March 2 Is Final Date For Bankhead Cotton Certificates

No transfers of Bankhead act tax exemption certificates on 1934 cotton will be permitted after March 2, 1935, according to information received Wednesday by Roy M. Zellner, administrator for Navarro county. New transactions of this nature have been reported recently.

Little inconvenience is likely to be caused by the closing of the trading period, according to Mr. Zellner, following the ruling that unused certificates will be valid for use in 1935.
